on the ground of overall favourable benefit-risk ratio.

Certain pesticides reported to have been banned in U.S.A. and certain European countries are still being used in India due to the following reasons:—

(i) Non-availability of safer/cheaper substitutes, e.g. DDT in Public Health.

(ii) Specific pest and disease situation.

(iii) More rapid degradation and less persistence of pesticides in Indian environmental conditions compared to countries in temperate zone.

(iv) Carefully considered use pattern recommended by Research and Extension Agencies; and

(v) Registration of pesticides for use in safer formulations.
